AMMERMAN CAMPUS HONORS CLUB AT SUFFOLK COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE MAKES CONTRIBUTION TO COPIAGUE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Selden, NY – The Honors Club on the Ammerman Campus of Suffolk County Community College in Selden recently raised $1,000 and donated it to Copiague Middle School for the development of a College and Career Awareness Center at the school's library. The College's students raised the money with the intention of giving back to a community in need.

The Honors program at Suffolk County Community College offers interdisciplinary learning opportunities for academically talented and highly motivated students. It is grounded in the traditions of the liberal arts and stresses the connections among various disciplines and the tools of artistic and intellectual creativity.

The mission of the Honors Club includes promoting student excellence and community service. This particular effort was conducted in order to improve the college-going culture in Copiague, as all students pass through the middle school.
