SUFFOLK COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE STUDENTS EXCEL AT PHI RHO PI NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Selden – Suffolk County Community College students from the Ammerman Campus Forensics Team represented the College at the Phi Rho Pi National Forensics Championship in Schaumburg, Illinois.

Robert Doyle, of Westhampton Beach, received the gold medal for dramatic interpretation and Emily Prochnicki, of Coram, was the bronze medalist in prose interpretation.

More than 58 community colleges and 529 students participated in the competition.

Mr. Doyle is a theatre arts major at the College with an emphasis in acting and a talent for costume design. He hopes to pursue a career in theatre, either as an actor or costume designer. This was Mr. Doyle's first year on the Ammerman Forensics Team; he competed in six tournaments and won 13 awards.

Ms. Prochnicki is also a theatre arts major at the College with an emphasis in acting. She has starred in five main stage shows during her time at Suffolk. She hopes to pursue a career in acting, both on the stage and in television and film. She competed on the team in the spring of 2011 and won numerous awards, including two bronze medals at the Phi Rho Pi national championships. This spring she competed in six tournaments and won 13 awards, making her the most honored forensics member in the history of the Ammerman Campus Forensics Team.
